Want High Prices for Little. Joseph Bates, of Richmond, the well known cattle buyer of Swartzhead, Ulster, of New York, was in this city Wednesday and Thursday. Mr. Bates was looking at several bunches of fat cattle but was not successful in purchasing. "It seems," said he to an Ulster reporter, "that the people in Boyle and adjoining counties want higher prices than the market will afford at present. Our firm can buy cattle in Chicago and ship them to New York for export much cheaper than they can buy Kentucky cattle and ship to New York. It is a business proposition and the local feeders will not get the price they ask."—Danville Advocate.

The Great Street Fair in Progress.

After hard work on the part of the different showmen, the various attractions forming the Street Carnival were ready for business Monday night. The streets surrounding the court house present a miniature Midway, and to the car sounds like several Midways, for on every hand the "peepers" are vying with each other. There is also a brass band that makes the scenes more lively. The Carnival comprises varied shows, such as The Moonshiners, The Great Train Robbery and Personal, The Old Plantation, The Arcade, Vandeville Theatre and Flying Dutchman. There are also a number of free attractions, namely, Miss Teddie Arnold, in acrobatic turns; Mr. Charles Arnold, in flying trapeze work; Dore Deville Wallace, in his daring leap for life, and Prof. Reynolds Military Band. These shows are all well worth the price of admission and are clean and entertaining, such that will be especially enjoyed by the ladies and children. It will continue throughout this week.

Horrible Accident at Nicholasville Junction.

While enroute to Kingston, this county, to visit relatives, Mrs. Mary Beange, of Dayton, Ohio, met with a fatal accident at Nicholasville Junction Sunday night, and what started out to be a reunion with loved ones and a trip of enjoyment, ended in pain and death. Mrs. Beange was asleep when the train from Cincinnati reached Nicholasville, and made an effort to get off while the locomotive was moving. She missed her footing and fell beneath the wheels, both legs being cut off. She was taken to St. Joseph hospital in Lexington, where she died Monday afternoon from her injuries. Mrs. Beange was before her marriage Miss Mary Riddell, of Kingston, and she was on her way to visit her brother, Mr. Riddell, when the accident occurred. Until three years ago, she, together with her family, lived at Drevins, moving from there to Dayton, Ohio, where she has since resided. She is survived by a husband and three children.
